

Agenda

Evaluating, Monitoring, and Continually Improving
Educator Evaluation and Support Systems

May 28, 2014

2:30 PM–3:30 PM (EDT); 11:30 AM–12:30 pm (PDT)

Objectives

Attendees will develop an understanding of:

- Why it is important to evaluate their educator evaluation and support systems
- Why it is important to start as early as possible
- Where to start
- How to build up to sophisticated, systematic, smoothly running systems
- How to monitor, evaluate, and continually improve systems

2:30–
2:35 PM Introduction

Hella Bel Hadj Amor, REL Northwest, will introduce the topic and the presenters, and provide background information on REL Northwest.

2:35–
3:00 PM Presentation

Don Goldhaber, Director, Center for Education Data & Research at University of Washington, Bothell, will present on key necessary elements of evaluation and support systems, including essential data collection and timeline, and basic and refined ways to analyze and learn from the data.

3:00–
3:20 PM Question and answer

Havala Hanson, REL Northwest, will interview Michelle Hudacsko, Deputy Director, District of Columbia Public Schools' IMPACT performance assessment system about the district's experience.

3:20–
3:30 PM Conclusion

Hella Bel Hadj Amor will make closing remarks and encourage participants to complete customer survey.