

Agenda
Digital Learning for Credit Recovery
October 22, 2014–1:00–2:15 p.m. Pacific Daylight Time

Objectives

Give participants a better understanding of:

- National developments and research on building successful online programs
- Designing or redesigning online courses to assist students in learning, highlighting credit recovery efforts in Idaho

1:00– 1:10 p.m.	Welcome and introductions	Claire Gates (the REL Northwest Idaho State Coordinator) will describe webinar logistics, invite questions, explain the mission and services of REL Northwest, and introduce presenters
1:10– 1:30 p.m.	Presentation #1: Effective strategies for online learning for at-risk students and credit recovery	Janet Twyman, Director of Innovation and Technology at the national Center on Innovations in Learning, will discuss national research on successful online programs, including platforms, course content, functionality, and teacher support
1:30– 1:50 p.m.	Presentation #2: The experience of the Idaho Digital Learning Academy	Sherawn Reberry, Director of Education Programs at Idaho Digital Learning Academy, will discuss programs for credit recovery and reaching at-risk students
1:50– 2:15 p.m.	Q&A and close	Gates will moderate participant questions; thank participants and encourage them to complete the customer feedback survey

This event is sponsored by REL Northwest, operated by Education Northwest, and funded by the U.S. Department of Education Institute of Education Sciences.