

Improving educational equity through cultural responsiveness in schools and educator preparation programs: A virtual workshop series

Webinar #2: Research and practice in culturally responsive pedagogy (CRP), and how to sustain systemic changes

Wednesday, October 2, 2019

3:30–4:30 p.m. Eastern

Webinar agenda

- 3:30-3:35 p.m. Welcome and introductions
Amy Johnson, senior fellow, REL Mid-Atlantic at Mathematica
Steven Malick, research analyst, REL Mid-Atlantic at Mathematica
- 3:35-3:50 p.m. What research exists on CRP, and what do we know about its effectiveness?
Eric Duncan, state policy advisor, WestEd
- 3:50-4:00 p.m. What should CRP look like in practice, and what role does each stakeholder play in its implementation?
Eric Duncan
- 4:00-4:10 p.m. How can states, districts, and schools make sure that systemic change around CRP is sustained?
Eric Duncan
- 4:10-4:25 p.m. Question and answer
Eric Duncan, Amy Johnson, and Steven Malick
- 4:25-4:30 p.m. Closing thoughts
Amy Johnson
- 4:30 p.m. Adjourn