Building a coordinated data system to support early childhood education
REL Midwest is supporting state efforts to coordinate and link early childhood data systems to inform multiagency research projects. Learn about the challenges and takeaways of building a connected data system.
Read more

Webinar recording: Strategies to support evidence use in education
This recent webinar notes barriers to using evidence-based practices in education and shares actionable strategies that researchers and others can employ to support evidence use.
Watch the webinar

Video: Supporting Black students’ excellence
Wisconsin’s Racine Unified School District is implementing several strategies to improve educational outcomes for Black students. This video connects the strategies with a REL Midwest research review of promising practices for supporting Black students.
View the video

Role of financial aid in early college success: Two perspectives
Education Week’s “Bringing Research and Practice” blog recently featured REL Midwest’s study on what predicts early college success, with a focus on types of financial aid.
Read the researcher perspective Read the practitioner perspective

Resource roundup: Knowledge utilization and data use in education
This curated list of resources from across the REL Program provides guidance for gathering and using research evidence and data as well as for identifying evidence-based practices.
Read more

Contact Us
Please contact us for more information about any of the items in this newsletter or to speak to a member of our staff.
We look forward to hearing from you.
REL Midwest at American Institutes for Research
10 S. Riverside Plaza, Suite 600
Chicago, IL 60606

This material was prepared under Contract ED-IES-17-C-0007 by Regional Educational Laboratory Midwest, administered by American Institutes for Research. The content of the publication does not necessarily reflect the views or policies of the Institute of Education Sciences (IES) or the U.S. Department of Education, nor does mention of trade names, commercial products, or organizations imply endorsement by the U.S. government.